Courses Created

Summer 2009: CNSL-A851: School Counseling

Developed the course and syllabus for a new elective in School Counseling. As part of the requirements for individuals to be eligible to receive an Ancillary Certification for School Counseling in the state of Louisiana, students must take a School Counseling course and complete a Practicum or Internship in a school. Not only is this a course that current students who want to work with children or in a school are drawn to, but several graduates of our program and other counseling programs have returned to take the course in order to qualify for the certification.

Fall 2020: Crisis Counseling

Developed the course and syllabus for a new elective in Crisis Counseling to be offered for the first time as an experimental course in the fall of 2020, with the hope that it will prove to be a popular enough elective to be offered every fall semester. This course will offer students instruction in handling a variety of crises including natural disasters, school and community shootings, sexual assault, military/traumatic brain injury/PTSD, etc.

Courses Redeveloped

Spring 2011: CNSL-A864: Ethics in Individual, Marriage, and Family Counseling

Redeveloped the syllabus and course requirements for this counseling core curriculum course, to include the teaching of the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT) Code of Ethics so that students pursuing the Licensed Marriage and Family Therapy (LMFT) credential would have the ethics educational requirement needed to pursue that license.

Summer 2011: CNSL-A863: Fundamentals of Practicum and Internship

Significantly redeveloped this counseling core course to create a realistic counseling experience in which students who are one semester from beginning Practicum, form their own mock mental health counseling "agency". Students name the agency, create a mission statement and intake form, as well as develop policies for the counselors and clients. Clients are hired actors, who are licensed mental health professionals (either LPCs or Social Workers). Students conduct 8-9 counseling sessions with these paid actors and participate in case consultation in order to create the most realistic practicum and internship experience and to better prepare them for their field work.

Fall 2010: CNSL- A776: Measurement and Assessment:

Partnered with the Loyola Counseling Center to have the students in this course conduct the Beck Depression Inventory (BDI) in the student center for any student on campus who elected to take the screening. Students experience giving, scoring and discussing results with participants. Any participant who was assessed as needing to see a staff counselor either immediately or to schedule an appointment, was referred by the student to the staff counselor who was available in the screening area. This is now a routine partnership and assignment for the course every fall semester. Additionally, every spring semester, students who have completed the Measurement and Assessment course can volunteer to give the Beck Anxiety Inventory (BAI) in the spring semester.
